LEARNING

MAPS

How we learn and who we learn from

Learning maps are an exciting, engaging evaluation tool your child will share with you. The learning map sessions are an opportunity for you to spend time exploring with your child their own learning and who helps them in this. Each session will include an introduction to learning maps followed by time spent in your child's classroom sharing their learning map.

"Every student has agency.

Activation of agency is a negotiation between the people and environment surrounding the student." (Klempičič, 2015)
